Singapore Dominates Startup Funding in Southeast Asia

A new report from Google, Temasek and Bain & Company takes a look at Southeast Asia’s internet economy, noting it is now worth US $100B and expected to triple to US $300B by 2025. Singapore is noted to be the most well-funded country in the region, attracting 70% of the start-up funding in the first half of 2019. Listed among the "aspiring unicorns" in the region are a number of our NOC and/or BLOCK71 companies, including Carousell, Shopback and Carro.
