We cordially invite all our current Doctoral Candidates to attend the next info session of the Graduate Center of TUM School of Management. Prof. Alwine Mohnen – one of the speakers of the Graduate Center – as well as the representatives of the doctoral candidates will share some valuable information on your doctoral studies with you. They would also like to take this opportunity to welcome our new doctoral candidates.

The event will be divided into two parts:

(ideal for candidates who have been in the program for more than one year)

10:45-12:15: Presentation on the first steps into and the first phase of the program and opportunity to ask your questions

(ideal for candidates who recently joined the doctoral program or are planning to do so within the next months)

The information event will be followed by a workshop on Good Scientific practices, offered exclusively for doctoral candidates of TUM School of Management. In this workshop, participants will get the opportunity to familiarize themselves with the ideal principles of good scientific practices. Furthermore, they will have the chance to discuss these principle in light of their concrete research and the specific “culture” of their discipline. The goal is to raise awareness concerning questionable patterns of misconduct in the scientific community, but also to discuss ways to prevent such incidences and to learn how to take appropriate measures.
